Greetings!

When the UCLA Intensive Course in Geriatric Medicine began 32 years ago, the average life expectancy in the United States was 74.6 years. Today, thanks in large part to advances in better treatment and prevention of disease, it is almost 80 years. Now more than ever, people are living longer, more productive lives. Medical professionals need to be prepared to diagnose and treat complex age-related conditions such as dementia, osteoporosis, delirium, and frailty, as well as be familiar with the unique presentations of common disease in the elderly.

With one of the world’s premier programs in Geriatric Medicine, UCLA has provided education and training to thousands of health professionals on the care of older patients. We draw from the expertise of the vast faculty of the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA and the Ronald Reagan UCLA Medical Center, consistently ranked the Best in the West hospital by the U.S. News and World Report since 1990, as well as nationally-recognized guest speakers. The course faculty will impart attendees with the current standards of care and cutting-edge developments in the field of aging. The topics for this year’s course include updates in:

- Diagnosis and Management of Dementia
- Cardiovascular and Hematologic Diseases in Older Adults
- Falls Assessment and Prevention
- Age-related Dermatologic Conditions
- Geriatric Pain Management and Palliative Care
- Management of Insomnia, Anxiety and Depression in the Elderly

This year, our Solomon Awardee/Speaker will be Stephanie Studenski, MD, MPH, Chief of the Longitudinal Studies Section of the National Institute on Aging (NIA) and Director of the Baltimore Longitudinal Studies on Aging, one of the nation’s longest and most prestigious studies of aging. The renowned neuroscientist Claudia Kawas, MD, Principal Investigator of the 90+ Study of the oldest old will be the Cherkin Awardee/Speaker. Through findings from their respective research studies, Drs. Studenski and Kawas will provide course attendees with important insights into such topics as balance and mobility, prevention of dementia, and lifestyle factors that lead to successful aging.

The venue for the 2015 course will be the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza, conveniently located in close proximity to the UCLA campus in Westwood, shopping centers and restaurants of Century City and Beverly Hills, and the famous beaches and boardwalk of Santa Monica. It is centrally located between Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) and downtown Los Angeles.

On behalf of the faculty and staff of the 32nd UCLA Intensive Course in Geriatric Medicine, I am looking forward to personally welcoming you to Los Angeles in September. Thank you for considering to join us!
One of the longest-running courses of its kind, the UCLA Intensive Course in Geriatric Medicine is a four-day course and board review in geriatric medicine that emphasizes an evidence-based and functional approach to the comprehensive care of older adults. It is designed for health professionals who wish to enhance their ability to care for older adults, and for physicians who are preparing for the initial certification or re-certification examinations in Geriatric Medicine offered by the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM) and the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP).

- The 32nd Annual UCLA Intensive Course is presented concurrently with the 2015 Intensive Course in Geriatric Pharmacy and Board Review, and participants may attend sessions in either course.
- Speaker presentations and supplementary materials are provided in a searchable and annotatable PDF syllabus.
- Over nine hours of optional interactive board review sessions are offered.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this course, participants should be able to:

- Identify the basic principles of geriatric medicine
- Apply principles of geriatric assessment, geriatric pharmacology, rehabilitation, and long-term care to the patient care setting
- Understand key aspects of neurology, cardiology, psychiatry, urology, pharmacology, and rheumatology as they apply to older patients
- Identify psychosocial problems and ethical issues in decision-making, and formulate an approach to these problems
- Comprehend the major geriatric syndromes such as incontinence, pain management, osteoporosis, and explain the appropriate geriatric medicine approaches to them

Disclosure Statement

The FDA has issued a concept paper which classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is “truly independent” and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires that nonpromotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced, and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program’s participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy now mandates that the provider adequately manages all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. We at UCLA fully endorse the letter and spirit of these concepts.
