COURSE DESCRIPTION

The goal of this course is to review the latest developments in imaging, screening and management of common topics in women's health for primary care providers. A multidisciplinary team of physicians will present the imaging and treatment fundamentals of topics including pelvic, thyroid, cardiovascular and lung pathology. State-of-the-art interventional and minimally invasive techniques will be presented as management options for common women's health issues. A team of physicians specializing in the treatment of breast cancer will present fundamentals in breast imaging, oncology, surgery, pathology, radiation oncology and breast reconstructive procedures. Updated screening and management guidelines will be provided for each subject.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this course, participants should be able to:

- Utilize updated screening and imaging ordering guidelines in women's health
- Identify common pelvic disorders including uterine and adnexal pathology, pelvic pain and pelvic floor dysfunction with associated diagnostic and treatment paradigms
- Describe thyroid and lung cancer imaging and management and diagnose cardiovascular disease in women
- Follow breast imaging screening and ordering guidelines of 2D and 3D mammography, breast ultrasound and MRI
- Collaborate in the multidisciplinary management and treatment of breast cancer

Disclosure Statement
The FDA has issued a concept paper that classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is “truly independent” and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires that non-promotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program’s participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy mandates that the provider adequately manage all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. We at UCLA fully endorse the letter and spirit of these concepts.
