Course Description
This program is designed for physician educators who are involved in teaching the practice of medicine. It is intended to provide information on multi-faceted educational approaches and contemporary tools that can be applied to increase the effectiveness of teaching.

Target Audience
Physician educators, including faculty, fellows, and residents.

Learning Objectives
At the conclusion of this course, learners will be better able to:

• apply innovative strategies for teaching basic knowledge to trainees for the purpose of passing in-training and medical board examinations.
• utilize techniques in teaching compassion and professionalism.
• embark on medical education research projects within their medical discipline.
• access and download social media tools and web-based content currently available.
• institute a flipped classroom model as a teaching strategy.

Accreditation
The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA, designates this live activity for a maximum of 4.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
Disclosure Statement
The FDA has issued a concept paper which classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is “truly independent” and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires non promotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced, and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program’s participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy mandates that the provider adequately manages all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. We at UCLA fully endorse the letter and spirit of these concepts.
