An Integrated U: Healing From Bench to Bedside

Course Description
Integrative medicine blends Western medicine with complementary approaches to address the physical, emotional, mental, social, spiritual, and environmental factors that impact overall health. The UCLA Integrative Medicine Collaborative Conference, An Integrated U: Healing from Bench to Bedside, is a one-day CME conference offering healthcare providers, staff, students and the community the opportunity to review the latest evidence on the benefits of integrative medicine as an adjunct to traditional care. Faculty experts will highlight best clinical practices and review the latest research and scientific developments on the use of integrative medicine.

Target Audience
This course is designed for primary care physicians, specialists, mental health providers, nurses, dietitians and other healthcare providers interested in integrative medicine.

Learning Objectives
At the conclusion of the program participants will be able to:
• Identify the role of integrative medical approaches in healthy aging.
• Describe the endocannabinoid system and the use of cannabis and cannabinoid products in the management of chronic pain.
• Discuss nutrition as it relates to optimizing health, immunity, the gut microbiome and chronic disease management.
• Counsel patients on the benefits of mindfulness based approaches in clinical care.
• Recognize the use of acupuncture and traditional Chinese medicine techniques in the management of patients with complex medical conditions.
• Appraise the use of integrative medical and spiritual approaches as a part of comprehensive cancer care.
• Identify strategies to incorporate integrative medical techniques into personal and clinical practice.

Accreditation Statement

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Office of Continuing Medical Education, David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA, designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

The California State Board of Registered Nursing accepts courses approved by the AMA for category 1 credit as meeting the continuing education requirements for license renewal. Nurses from states other than California should inquire with their local State Board for specific continuing education policies.

Disclosure Statement

The FDA has issued a concept paper that classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is “truly independent” and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires that non-promotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program’s participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy mandates that the provider adequately manage all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. UCLA fully endorses the letter and spirit of these concepts.
